

2020 Wild Ginger Birthkeeper Program Information

Class Overview & Portal

- Each class we will lay out daily flow and overview of how we will spend our time, including breaks at the beginning of each session.
- Please familiarize yourself with the class portal. Once you create your login this is where you will access links to join the classes live, where you can find recordings after class, any class materials we provide as well as collective class information generated during classes such as mentimeters.
- Each Wednesday before class we will send an email reminder containing important class information and helpful reminders before class.

Class Space

- Class time will focus on course topics and content and will be webinar/presentation style. Teachers will invite in questions and participation via the chat at dedicated times. If you have an urgent request please feel free to direct message Molly via the chat function.
- A mix of teaching styles will be utilized including storytelling, lecture, some visual aids will be utilized and we use the rev.com closed captioning tool. The majority of our educators will invite in participation via the chat and potentially other tools, please know we are not trained facilitators.
- If you have any specific needs, requests, joys, successes, concerns or feedback please know we welcome you to contact us at any time at WildGingerHerbalCenter@gmail.com

Communication and Chat Tools

- We are a large group, and thus to honor commitment to the material we have promised to cover, our time will largely center around the days topic.
- We want to be intentional with the different communication tools we have available to us to set ourselves up for success and help our students gain the knowledge and skills offered during this course.
- The chat box is a useful tool that can be helpful to ask questions, clarifications etc. All questions will go directly to the teacher and moderator, and will be addressed at designated times as prompted by the teacher. Teachers may also utilize platforms such as menti.com to help generate collective participation and shared information. This will vary some based on each classes needs and everyone's teaching style.

Closed Captioning

- Closed captioning will be available during our live sessions.

Course Materials

- All course notes currently available are on the course website and more will continue to be added as teachers get them to us, please feel free to access notes ahead of time when provided.
- If we generate content during the class such as a mentimeter, we will share this as well as the recordings of the class within 48 hours after the live course.

Wild Ginger How We Hold Each Other

- We center our shared learning. We honor that we share a unique learning space during a transformative time.
- From us there are many. We are holding many needs, many options, and many solutions. Let's contribute to our own needs, and as you're able, contribute toward the collective.

Always remember we are here for you, please feel free
